ESOL Exams- Qualifications

ESOL (English for Speakers of Other Languages) qualifications are the world's leading certificates for learners of English.

ESOL are qualifications especially designed for people whose native language is not English and who wish to take English language qualifications of high quality which are nationally recognised.

Each year, 4 million people, in 130 countries sit these exams which are recognised by thousands of educational organisations and employers worldwide.

All individuals older than 12 years old can sit these exams and gain certification for their level of knowledge of the English language.

This is useful for:

1. Their access in the national education system
2. Their recruitment either in the private or public sector
3. The recognition of their level of knowledge by institutions abroad

They are classified in 6 main levels: A1, A2, B1, B2, C1, C2 and they are recognised by the European Qualification Framework and Internationally.

European Common Framework Award

Professional (Vocational) Qualifications

Professional Qualifications have been designed to measure a candidate's theoretical knowledge and practical skills. They are internationally recognised and cover a very broad range of professional fields, such as hairdressing, beauty therapy, tourism, telecommunications and retailing, among many others. They are designed in collaboration with experts and they arm holders with efficiency in the field of their choice.

Every qualification is designed according to the rules set by the Qualifications and Credit Framework (QCF). The QCF is a credit transfer system which recognises skills and qualifications in England, Wales and Northern Ireland.

The QCF provides a simple framework that clearly presents the learner's progress in a way that is easily comparable. The path of qualification achievement is very flexible for the learner and gives him the opportunity to progress steadily, in smaller steps through the accumulation of credits.

The title of every qualification within the new framework contains details of the size (award/certificate/diploma), the level of difficulty (Entry to Level 8) and the general content of the qualification.

Ex. Level 2, Award in Health and Social Care

Type	Credits	Learning Hours
Award	1-12	10-120 h
Certificate	13-36	130-360 h
Diplomas	37	370+ h

Are they recognised abroad?

The qualifications offered meet the specifications of international training and employment standards, and have been designed in order to meet the needs of learners and companies.

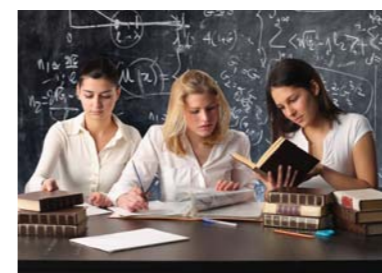

In recent years, in order to make qualifications more understandable to employers, individuals and institutions, the European Qualification Framework (EQF) has been developed. The EQF aims to link the different countries' educational systems and qualification frameworks in order to be easily comparable.

Accreditation and Validation

Accreditation Services

Accreditation Services allow companies and organisations to gain formal recognition from an awarding body for their in-house training programmes (seminars, lectures, on job training). We can accredit the design, the content and the assessment process of your training programmes.

Leaders Qualifications provides formal certification to demonstrate that the qualifications awarded are in line with the international standards. Successful participants receive a certificate which proves their level of knowledge, skills and competences acquired.

Validation Services

Leaders Qualifications also offers validation services for selected partners wishing to offer qualifications that are not part of Leaders Qualifications products and services.

Validation is the process whereby we assess that a study program which is developed by another organisation is of high quality, meet the standards and can consequently lead to an internationally recognised award.

Our Validation Services focus on the processes and standards used and are available to professional and corporate training organisations sharing our commitment to quality in education.

Leaders Qualifications will determine the extent to which it exercises control over the procedures and quality assurance of the program.

Sales of educational products and services

Nowadays, we can clearly talk about a “digital age”. Technology and new media have been built to support learning and consequently the teaching and learning procedures have been transformed in order to meet the learners’ needs.

Technology in education gives the opportunity to new generations of students to develop the knowledge and skills needed either to prepare for the university or to pursue a career.

By always being updated with the latest changes in the education sector, Leaders Qualifications offers its partners and clients access to the most pioneering educational products (software/manuals) and the opportunity to follow new learning paths.
